Magnificent new home for ACB

“Former Australian Ballet principal Christine Walsh directs the Australian Conservatoire of Ballet using the Vaganova teaching method, and the Russian classical influence was clear in this program.”

– THE AUSTRALIAN - AUGUST 2009

AS PART OF the Australian Conservatoire of Ballet's (ACB) 20th Anniversary celebration, the school has moved to new purpose built ballet studios at 4 / 2 Bromham Place, Richmond, Victoria 3121. The building has two levels with three climate controlled sprung floor studios and its own production room. The entire building has an efficient intercom system for easy communications and video cameras to provide ultimate security and comfort for the students, parents and staff.

The official opening of the new ACB studios was launched by the City of Yarra

Mayor, Cr. Alison Clarke on Friday 28th October. The ACB's main studio has been named after its Patron Dame Margaret Scott AC DBE.

Throughout their training, the students are given opportunities to audition for professional contracts and perform annually with the school's own 70 piece orchestra and international guest artists at professional venues such as the Arts Centre in Melbourne.

The Australian Conservatoire of Ballet has many successful students who are now working in dance companies worldwide.
